

SEASALT CORNWALL

Nice Things People Have Said About the Way We Work

"Seasalt has been a great supporter of Marie Curie for nearly 15 years. The management and staff have helped raise awareness of our work and valuable funds through staff fundraising, Christmas raffles, taking daffodil boxes for The Great Daffodil Appeal and through being main supporters of the Padstow to Rock Swim. Marie Curie is delighted to have the opportunity to work with such a great organisation."

Lynda Thomas - Community Fundraiser, Marie Curie

"Seasalt are a very professional and established Cornish company. I have worked with them for a number of years firstly via their shop in Falmouth town centre and then progressing much closer as one of the two main sponsors for the Falmouth International Sea Shanty Festival. Seasalt and the festival are a natural fit and it is great to see both Seasalt and the festival developing and growing year on year."

Richard Gates - Falmouth Town Manager

"The Fishermen's Mission is absolutely delighted with the invaluable and continued support that our charity receives from everyone at Seasalt. Their support for our welfare and caring work amongst our fishing communities here in Cornwall is hugely appreciated and valued. Seasalt's knowledge and understanding of the charitable work we do and their fantastic fundraising with sales of their fabulous Sailor Shirts, Christmas cards, Charity Jute Bags and much more over the past 5 years, enables us to support sick and injured fishermen and their families in need 24 hours a day 365 days a year."

Gina Moore - SW Regional Fundraising Manager, Fishermen's Mission

"Seasalt have again shown their commitment to organic manufacturing and have worked hard to develop a new supply chain in Sri Lanka that is capable of producing GOTS certified products that meet the Soil Association standards for organic textiles; a first from that country. This new source will enable organic brands to remain competitive against non-organic alternatives, bring long term financial benefits to the farmers, and help protect the biodiversity of Sri Lanka."

Philip Skentelbury - Certification Manager, Soil Association

"What I love about working with the Seasalt team is their sheer enthusiasm and appetite for new ideas. Not only are they always interested to hear what we think, they are constantly coming up with new ideas themselves. It makes partnership working with them very exciting and creative. The Seasalt Bursary is a perfect example - Neil Chadwick knew how much we wanted to 'grow our own' potters here at Leach but he knew how costly that can be for a small charity - so he came up with perfect solution. The Seasalt Bursary works for everyone - the Leach Pottery, Seasalt, the local community, all our customers, but most of all for the new trainee - which is as it should be."
